Two fonts, one word

Rakovac Capital is an ornamented first letter. Every letter sits in a shield inspired by the village coat of arms, with a local motif at its tip: vine, monastery, snowdrops, linden, the Beli Majdan pillars and many more. Rakovac Common is the reading font for everything else. The two are drawn to work together in one word.

How to use them

- Use the Capital only for the first letter of a name, a title or a paragraph. Never set whole words in it.
- Set the Capital at the same size as the Common text. The letter in the shield then stands on the baseline at cap height, and the point of the shield hangs below the line. Leave extra space under that line.
- Colour version: for screens and full-colour print. One-colour version: for vinyl cutting, stamps, embroidery, engraving and one-colour print, in any single colour.
- Smallest sizes: colour 24 pt (32 px), one colour 14 pt (20 px). Below that the motifs get lost.
- Do not stretch, slant, outline or add shadows. Do not recolour parts of the colour shield; use the one-colour version instead.

sign, not a coat of arms

The shield with the letter R is the logo of the rakovac.rs portal. It is not the official coat of arms of Rakovac. We gladly offer it to everyone as an unofficial sign of the village.
